phenominal innovative product

By ashley on May 15, 2014

as a serious runner, I was interested in trying this product so that I could monitor my heart rate without have to wear and/or remember my HR strap for each workout. The electrodes built right in to the sports bra are not only convenient but comfortable too. The bra's overall fit is great, providing support and made from (what feels like) durable, top-notch material that wicks sweat away from the body well. I've used my sports bras (I have 2 now) for a multitude of other fitness endeavors now - like spinning/biking and even yoga. I love getting the HR info now so easily - and it's really enhanced my training, fitness and overall body awareness. great concept paired with a great product, I look forward to see what other ideas sensoria can develop.
